

Annual Report of Aerospace Medical Association of Korea (AsMAK)

This is 2016 annual report of Aerospace Medical Association of Korea (AsMAK). All of members of AsMAK eagerly was participating in work on various academic projects of AsMAK. There are academic activities in three divisions, aviation medical examiner, aviation nurse, and human factors. Each year, the AsMAK conducts two conferences and AME training. One of AME education was the communication and psychiatric counselling skills in aviation medical examination. Since last year, the AsMAK have held a seminar on pilot's mental illness counseling techniques. We are conducting FRMS studies for pilot fatigue management and are preparing to establish FRMS regulations by 2019.